

What about the Money?

Is the salary reasonable and how much can I make?

There is no one simple answer to this, when the profession is so varied.

Income and benefits will depend on your level of education, amount of experience, level of responsibility, the company you work with, and the type of work that the company does.

Your career in surveying could range from a valued technical employee in a surveying or engineering company, to the President/CEO of that company.

ALSA salary study ...

The Alberta Land Surveyors' Association (ALSA) has done research with its members regarding salary and benefits. You'll see the results on their What is the pay like? web page.

Please note that surveys are not done every year and that stats reflect information for Alberta only. Income and benefits will vary from one region to another.
